ADDING FLAIR/MORE TO COME 28

Welcome to AwardWare! With AwardWare you can express creativity in a multitude of ways by mixing and matching your own text with a selection of border designs, fonts (type styles), graphics, and seal designs. You can also design and print awards, licenses, tickets, coupons, checks, prize ribbons, letterheads, memos, rewards, signs, paper trophies, and more. For effective use of AwardWare, please use this manual along with the program. Before you start the program, we suggest you make a back-up copy of your AwardWare disk.

A Reference insert for your specific computer is included with this manual. Please look over the Reference insert before you start creating those special awards for information on computer equipment, on printer setup, on booting your system, and on the use of important keyboard keys.

To acquaint you with the program we will take you step-by-step through each feature of AwardWare. You will create the following award, along with our help.

The AwardWare Main Menu is the first menu that appears. The Main Menu is your path to creating and printing awards.

1. Printer Setup is highlighted as you enter the Main Menu. Press the Return key to select Printer Setup. As you enter the Printer Setup menu, use the Reference insert to guide you. Testing the Printer Setup is explained in the “Problem Solving” section of this manual (page 27).

This step is essential for the successful printing of awards and MUST BE DONE THE FIRST TIME YOU USE THE PROGRAM. Repeat this step ONLY if you change printers.

2. For now, cursor down past Create a QuickAward to Create Awards and More and press Return.
3. On this screen you choose to edit or create an award. For now, cursor down past “Edit Last Template/Award” to “Award/License” and press Return. You will be asked to enter a template number. Templates illustrate the location of the features that make up your award. All template designs are assigned a template number, starting on page 8 of this manual.

Apple/Atari/Commodore: Use the up and down cursor keys to choose template number “1” and press Return.

IBM: Type 1 and press Return.

The following screen will appear:

--AREA "B"--

--AREA "A"--
Choose Your: > GRAPHIC

--AREA "D"--
Or: Print Exit

--AREA "C"--

Highlight Choose Backup

4. On this next screen you will be able to choose features that make up your award (border, graphic, text, signature, and seal). The following is a brief description of each section of this screen.

Area A: This is where you choose features contained in the template chosen (border, graphic, text, signature, and seal). To access each feature use the up and down cursor movement keys (see the Reference insert).

Area B: This is the template design. Notice the highlighted boxes as you cursor up and down. They work together with the highlighted features in Area A.

Area C: This area displays a list of choices for the feature selected in Area A. To access these choices, use the up and down cursor keys.

Area D: Use the right and left cursor keys to move between Area A and Area D. Once in Area D, use the up and down cursor keys to make your choice.

5. Highlight "Border" in Area A and press Return. A selection of borders will appear in Area C (borders are shown on page 22 of this manual). Cursor down until you see the word "Star" and press Return. The Star border has now been saved.
6. You will automatically return to Area A. Press the down cursor key to highlight "Graphic" and press Return. A list of graphics will appear in Area C (graphics can be seen on page 24 of this manual). Cursor down to the word "Computer" and press Return. The Computer graphic has now been saved.
7. You are now back in Area A again. Cursor down to highlight "Text" and press Return. A list of fonts (see page 23 of this manual for examples) appears in Area C. Highlight "Block" and press Return.

Type: AWARDWARE and press Return.
(Apple/Atari/Commodore users should press the Escape key to get out of the Text mode.)

If you've made a mistake, see "Important Keys" on your Reference insert. Back-up and Delete keys are explained.

8. We're back in Area A again. Cursor down. "Text" will again be highlighted. Press Return. This is the second box of text for this particular template. Some templates have more text boxes than others. See the actual template designs on page 8 of this manual.

Highlight "Block" and press Return. Two lines for entering text will appear.

Type: WELCOMES and press Return.

Type: (Your Name) and press Return. (Apple/Atari/Commodore users should press Escape key.)

9. Here we are, back in Area A again. Cursor down to highlight "Signature" and press Return. Different types of Signature boxes are listed in Area C (refer to page 26 for illustrations). Cursor down to "Left Side" and press Return. A list of "Seals" will appear (turn to page 26 of this manual for a look at the Seals). Highlight "Ewe's Great" and press Return.

We have now completed our award. If you would like to print this award, cursor right from Area A to Area D to highlight "Print" and press Return. Apple/Atari/Commodore users should choose F (final) for a darker copy, but a longer print time, or D (draft) for a lighter copy, but a shorter print time. This will start the printing process. The printer data (line segments) will appear on screen. For IBM final (darker copies) print-outs, see your Reference insert. By selecting to "Print" you have automatically saved the award we just created. Only the last award printed is saved. If you would like to create your own award at this time, cursor down to "Exit" and press Return. If you "Exit" before printing, the award will NOT be saved.

Now that you've become an expert award maker, the rest is easy. On the next few pages are all the features available with AwardWare.

AWARDWARE MAIN MENU

Printer Setup

Let's start with the AwardWare Main Menu. The Main Menu leads you through AwardWare. The first choice in the Main Menu is Printer Setup.

See the Reference insert to help you choose the correct Printer Setup for your system. THIS STEP MUST BE DONE THE FIRST TIME YOU USE THE PROGRAM. Repeat this step ONLY if you change printers.

Create a QuickAward

With a QuickAward, we have already chosen some of the award features for you, to make creating this award quick and easy. QuickAwards have limited feature choices, some have no choices at all. The number of QuickAwards may vary by computer type because of space limitations. QuickAwards are NOT saved after you have printed them.

Edit Last Template/Award

After choosing Create Awards and More from the Main Menu, a menu appears with “Edit Last Template/Award” already highlighted. By choosing to edit an award you can make changes on the last award printed. This is useful when dedicating multiple awards of the same design to a group of people (such as Mrs. Peabody’s Third Grade).

The Template Legend explains how the symbols are used on the template designs that follow.

Create Awards and More has several categories. After choosing a category (for example Award/License), enter the template number. Award/license has many different template designs that are suitable for framing, including vertical, horizontal, 5x7 inch, and 8x10 inch formats. Create Awards and More Ribbons

With these template designs you can create a variety of prize ribbons (1st, 2nd, 3rd, etc.). Use the Template Legend on page 7 for reference.

Create Awards and More Miscellaneous

If you're looking for MORE in awards, this is it! With these specially designed templates (signs, trophies, keys, newspapers, etc.) you can acknowledge those important events (baby announcements, car for sale, etc.). See the Template Legend on page 7 for help in filling in these templates.

Create an AwardDisk

With this feature, you can send an animated disk, that will also print out the award of your choice, to a friend with a compatible computer.

Apple/Atari/Commodore

Follow the same procedure for creating an award as you did in the Example Award (page 3 of this manual). After printing this award (to save it) make a copy of this program and send it to a friend. Tell them to choose "Edit Last Template" and print the award you created for them.

IBM and Compatibles

Make sure you have a formatted disk ready for use. If not, exit AwardWare, format a disk (being sure to use a disk that is not important to you), and then restart the AwardWare program to continue.

If you select "Dedicate Last Award", the program will automatically save the last award that was printed (there is a default award) onto the formatted disk that you provided. Please be patient; this procedure takes a few minutes.

If you select "Create New Award", follow the same procedure for creating awards on page 3 of this manual. Instead of choosing "Print", select "Create". Your newly created award will automatically be saved onto the formatted disk that you provided. Please be patient; this process takes a few minutes.

To see and test the AwardDisk you just created, exit AwardWare. Start AwardDisk the same as you would start AwardWare (see the Reference insert for instructions).

BE SURE TO COMPLETE PRINTER SETUP FIRST, then print the award.

After you have tested the AwardDisk, you may wish to return to Printer Setup and change the printer model to your friend's computer setup.

Borders

Borders are available in a wide variety of graphic designs. The placement of the border depends on the template design selected. In addition to these graphic borders, there are also text borders. These text borders are created by typing on your computer keyboard sayings like, "Cool Guy!", "I Love Ken", etc. You may choose the placement of the text border from the four sides of the award or any combination of sides. The order is T (top), B (bottom), L (left), or R (right). The text border will replace borders on all template designs. "New Disk" are designs presently under development.

NOTE: Some border designs are not meant to be used on templates with corner borders only.
